

Portland Memory Garden celebrates 22nd anniversary June 20, 2024

11:30 – 1:00 Save the date now!

An interdisciplinary group of community and national leaders began planning the Portland Memory Garden in October 1998. Partners developed the garden as one of the 100-gardens to honor the 1999 centenary celebration of the American Society of Landscape Architects (ASLA). We broke ground in 2000 and dedicated the garden in May 2002. Major partners included the Center of Design for an Aging Society, ASLA, Alzheimer's Association, Portland State University/School of Urban Studies & Planning, City of Portland Parks & Recreation and Legacy Health.

Join us as we work to reengage our community members as we move through COVID-19. Please join Legacy Therapeutic Garden team members and other major partners on June 20, 2024, 11:30 – 1:00 at the garden to acknowledge the services this garden provides to the local community and for families supporting their loved ones living with dementia. Enjoy learning and engaging with tabling partners, nature activities, and reconnect with organizations and community members who supported the construction and the continued garden maintenance and programming. Meet and engage with HTRs involved in the history of the garden through the design, construction, maintenance, and programming.

Event held rain or shine with a warm welcome to all community members for this free event. Bring pictures, story telling and other memorabilia of our amazing community project. Bring your lunch and take a break in nature. Enjoy music, socializing, relaxing and the inspiration of community leaders and nature.

Meet at the Portland Memory Garden at Ed Benedict Park 10401 SE Bush St, Portland, OR 97266.

The Portland Memory Garden - Portland, Oregon

Health Benefits of Nature | asla.org

In 2024 the garden continues to support the Legacy Health mission: Good health for our people, our patients, our communities, and our planet.

AHTA members, please contact us by May 30, if you will join in this June 20 event. We have blocked time on June 19, Wednesday and June 21, Friday 10:00 – 11:30 for Legacy Therapeutic Garden program hosted campus garden visits. Advance registration is required, and you will receive meeting locations when registering.

To register and for more information, please contact: Meghan McKiernan, HTR MMCKIERN@LHS.ORG
Teresia Hazen, HTR tmhazen.7@gmail.com Please post and share with your networks. All are welcome!